VICTORIA BOY PERISHES IN SEA TRAGEDY

Alexander Wait Among Five Victims of Shipwreck Off Nova Scotia

SEVEN SURVIVORS TELL GRIM STORY

JUDEQUE, N.S., Sept. 24 (P)—A night of death behind them, seven seamen rested on land tonight after watching five of their mates die one by one as they drifted through darkness in a furious storm that had sunk the motor vessel Hurry On and driven them into an open lifeboat. Death trailed the seven all last night, ever since the little Hurry On plunged to the bottom off Henry Island, twenty-three miles from here. It almost caught up with them, but a chance wind cast up their lifeboat and threw them, almost all unconscious, on the beach soon after dawn.

ONE BODY RECOVERED

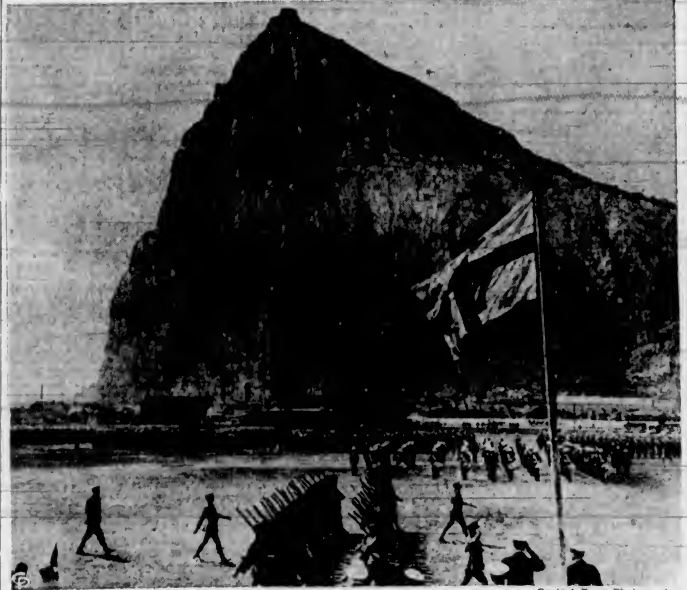

Ashore with them came the body of one of their dead companions; the other dead, including the captain of the Halifax-bound ship, still floated somewhere off this Cape Breton village. One had been swept to death in the storm; the others had died in the tossing lifeboat—plucked overboard by giant combers. Captain A. H. Gardner, of York-shire, and three of the other men, died of exposure to the numbing cold of air and water. Tossed into the sea twice as the lifeboat capsized, they climbed back each time—into a boat filled to the gunwales with icy water.

FAILS TO SWIM BACK

First Mate Alex MacKenzie, of North Sydney, N.S., died more quickly. The second time the little craft tumbled over he failed to swim back to it. His shipmates saw no more of him. He was the first to die after the Hurry On had capsized and sunk.

Great Britain and Italy Are Still Apart on Ethiopian Question—League Anxious to Determine What Rome Really Wants—Il Duce Now Hints at a Complete Mandate

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—Conciliation in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute has failed for the time being. Another day of committee meetings and ambiguous communications leaves the gap between the League of Nations and Italy unbridged. The menace of war in East Africa remains. Yet paradoxically the situation is relaxed somewhat. The British, although the talks between Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador in Rome, and Premier Mussolini had no concrete result, stress the improved tone of the Italian communications.

MAKES CHARGE OF TAMPERING

Witness at Alberta Man-slaughter Trial Makes Startling Statement

WETASKIWIN, Alta., Sept. 24 (P)—Charles A. Daw, chief Crown witness, asserted today in the trial of Bruce Hay, Spokane businessman charged with manslaughter as a result of fatal motor accident June 19, that a Calgary waitress had been brought to testify falsely against him in the trial. He said he had been talking to the waitress here while the trial has been in progress.

Witness at Alberta Man-slaughter Trial Makes Startling Statement

Crown's case against Hay, charged with the death of Mrs. Ethel Taylor, riding in the Hay car when it side-swiped another and upset near here, concluded late today, and a special session of court tonight is starting the defence. The night session is being held to allow Mr. Justice J. R. Boyle to get away early tomorrow afternoon if possible. Hay will not testify until tomorrow morning.

INSTRUCTED TESTIMONY

Daw charged the Calgary waitress had been brought here to testify that he (Daw) had said he was at the wheel of the Hay car at the time of the accident. He declared a man whom the waitress took to be a detective had seen her at Calgary and instructed her what to say.

Daw insisted through cross-examination by Joseph T. Shaw, K.C., Calgary, that while he had been driving the Hay car earlier on the night of the accident, he jumped out from twenty-five feet to seventy-five feet before the accident and while Hay was at the wheel.

He testified Hay was driving "moodily on the wrong side of the road," but could not say why he did not go to the scene of the accident, and drove by in an oil truck a short time later after being picked up by the driver whom he flagged down.

Three Mirror, Alta., baseball players said they saw the Hay car shortly before the accident, and Hay was almost hopelessly intoxicated.

WHEAT BOARD STARTS TASK

Will Take Delivery of Crop From Today at Set Scale of Prices

WINNIPEG, Sept. 24 (P)—The Canadian Wheat Board, approved by all political parties when established by the last Parliament, will begin tomorrow its task of handling the West's 1935 wheat crop, guaranteeing to all producers a minimum price for their grain.

Preliminaries out of the way after weeks of work, the three-man board, headed by John I. McFarland, in charge of the Dominion Government's efforts to stabilize the price of Canada's chief commodity since 1932, announced today it was ready to start operations.

GUARANTEED MINIMUM

Most of Western Canada's wheat crop this year, officially estimated at around the 300,000,000-bushel mark, will be handled by the board. The board will purchase it at a set scale of prices and will endeavor to sell it abroad. And the grower, guaranteed a minimum price, will share in any profits from the board's operations.

BAKES PRICES

Prices announced by the board September 17 are the prices to be paid producers. The prices range down through all the grades of wheat from No. 1 hard, 87½ cents, to feed, 50 cents a bushel. The price is on the basis of carlots, in store at Fort William or Vancouver.

Millions Flow Into United States With Nearly Half Of Supply There

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (P)—While war fears and unsettled economic conditions check the United States' desire to acquire the already brimming reservoir of the United States, treasury officials said today they were standing unperurbed on their offer to buy every ounce coming this way. More than $150,000,000 worth of the metal has been engaged for the shipment to the United States within the last fortnight.

All of it, as quickly as received, will be added to the treasury's stock of $246,000,000—an amount which constitutes 45 per cent of the world's visible monetary supply as calculated by the Federal Reserve Board from the published holdings of central banks and governments.

After Spain and Belgium, Italy, centre of the present European uncertainty, is seventh, with $423,000,000.

STATE FINANCES MUCH IMPROVED

Premier Stevens Says New South Wales in Best Position in Seven Years

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 24 (P)—able, via Reuters—B. S. B. Stevens, Premier and Treasurer of New South Wales, presented his budget today with the announcement that the financial position of the State was the best in seven years.

The estimated deficit for 1935-36 was £1,750,000, a decrease of £548,923 over the current year. The deficit would be less than the contribution to the sinking fund, he said.

Premier Stevens said there were definite indications of recovery from the depression.

WILL ACCEPT FEDERAL AID

New York Maturity of Province Will Be Met by Loan Of $1,671,000

Not finding a market favorable to British Columbia bonds, this Province has definitely made up its mind to accept a loan of $1,671,000 from the Dominion Government to meet a New York payment on October 1, Hon. John Hart announced yesterday.

In view of the condition of the market, we will accept from Ottawa a loan of the amount specified," Mr. Hart said, in response to questions. "The loan to be retired with Federal help is a three-year refunding issue, bearing 5 per cent interest, dated October 1, 1932, and maturing in a few days' time."

A year ago, the Province met a $2,000,000 payment in New York under similar circumstances with Federal assistance on an August maturity in that instance.

While both transactions leave the Provincial net debt as it was, British Columbia's total indebtedness to the Dominion treasury is increased by the amount of the loans, standing at in excess of $18,000,000, according to recent Provincial announcements.

Creditmen Gather at Banquet to Consider Aims of Association

Optimistic Outlook for 1936 in Retail Merchandising—Interesting Addresses Show Progress of Credit-Granting Movement

BETTER business based on better credit, the need for the fullest co-operation of all members and the raising of credit granting to the highest standard of competitive merchandising, formed the keynote of the annual banquet of the Victoria Credit Granters' Association held last night in the crystal ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

The value of the association to retail merchants was evidenced by the attendance of 240 representatives of business organizations in the city. The association started three years ago with a membership of twenty, which had increased to 194 at the end of August this year. Oliver M. Prentice, president of the organization and banquet chairman, informed the guests.

WORK OF BUREAU

During the last twelve months, Mr. Prentice said, 1,200 credit reports were furnished by the association bureau to 110 business firms, more than 100 per cent increase over the same period of the previous year. The association had also provided information of value to members through weekly luncheon meetings.

The guests listened to addresses from three speakers: Hon. George S. Pearson, Provincial Minister of Labor; Frederic Young, chairman of the research division of the National Retail Credit Association, of Portland; and B. C. Nicholas, editor of The Victoria Daily Times. There were solos by Harry Nancarrow, accompanied by Cecil Heaton, and a contest in aid of funds for the Credit Women's Breakfast Club, members of which were guests at the banquet.

OUTLOOK FOR 1936

Mr. Nicholas briefly discussed prospects for retail trade in the coming year, the effect of government policy in relation to business and predicted that 1936 would bring a more noticeable improvement in business conditions in Canada. Mr. Nicholas warned the people not to expect a new Jerusalem to arise out of the depression. Human nature, he said, was not adjusted to any degree of perfection and depressions would continue to come in cycles but, he stated, much good would come from their depression through the experience gained.

Frederic Young, who is considered one of the leading authorities on credit research on the Coast, gave an interesting talk on some of the problems of credit granting. He urged members to consider the development of credit granting as a profession and not as a consideration of some years ago, that a credit executive was a bookkeeper "put up." He said he believed the profession was gaining very rapidly.

CREDIT ACCOUNTS

"Business in the East," Mr. Young said, "is enjoying a peak near to that of 1929. Are you setting your sails (sails) to be ready to 'put up'?" He said he believed the change to better conditions that are now on their way? Dealing with credit accounts during a depression, or in time of prosperity, the speaker stated he believed there should not be any drastic change in policy. The best merchandise one can buy is accounts receivable.

"It is the safest investment you can possibly have. The promise to pay of the individual is the best promise you can secure for your business," he declared.

The speaker gave a statistical review of national credit risks, the work of the research bureau of the national organization, and mentioned some of the reports that were always available to members of the local association. He also spoke of the necessity for new accounts and the need for the small merchant to map out a programme for the securing of new business.

PURCHASING POWER

The Minister of Labor, who was the last speaker of the evening, addressed the gathering on "Stabilized Labor Conditions As An Aid to Credit Granting." The new system of credit granting, Mr. Pearson said, made it possible for people to buy goods easier. The real value of credit granting was not only the convenience but the expansion of the purchasing power of the customer.

The minister maintained one of the things seriously hampering business today was the inability of business and industry to shake off the ideas of 100 years ago. Other depressions, he asserted, were mainly because of shortage of goods to meet the demands of the people. This was just the opposite, the lack of purchasing power in the hands of the people to buy the goods produced. One of the things that had been grossly neglected in times of prosperity was the failure of industry, business and government, to realize the necessity of an equal distribution of purchasing power.

REGULATED CONDITIONS

It was necessary, in order to bring about recovery, that labor purchasing power should be stabilized by regulated hours of work, higher wages and better working conditions generally. Lack of regulation, he declared, mitigated against progress in industry and mercantile business. He outlined some of the work of his department in trying to readjust the working conditions to increase the purchasing power of the individual in British Columbia.

Prior to the close of the banquet, Mr. Prentice announced the association had been successful in securing for Victoria the 1936 convention of the Pacific Northwest Credit Association. It will be held here next May. He also announced the weekly luncheon meetings of the association had been changed from Fridays to Tuesdays of each week.

ORIENTAL VOTE IS REAL ISSUE

C.C.F. Platform Viewed as Real Menace to B.C. by Conservative Speaker

"The leader of the C.C.F. party in Canada stands definitely committed to giving the franchise to Orientals, and declares that the C.C.F. also stands for it. Mr. Connelly, leader of the C.C.F. in the Provincial Legislature, also has declared himself in support of it, but says it is not a burning question. But I say it is one of the most important questions in this campaign if a party is seeking power without placing squarely before the people its stand in this matter," W. A. McKenzie, former Minister of Mines, declared at a Conservative meeting, the Rex Theatre, Equilmalt, last night.

READS FROM HANSARD

Mr. McKenzie read from Hansard to prove his statement that the C.C.F. party was committed to the pledge of giving the Orientals the franchise, and wanted to know if Professor King Gordon likewise submitted to such a policy.

"That pledge constitutes a real menace to this Province. There are 50,000 Orientals in British Columbia today, and the increase in the Japanese population alone during the last ten years has doubled. It will not be long before the British Columbia Legislature is dominated by Orientals if such legislation as that proposed by the C.C.F. is enacted," Mr. McKenzie asserted.

REVIEWS RECORD

In considering the issues in the Federal election, one should not overlook the record of the Bennett administration, the speaker stated. He pointed out the benefits that were now being derived from the Marketing Act, and how the farmers of Canada already have been saved $2,000,000 in interest charges under the Farmers' Credit Arrangement Act. Premier Bennett, Mr. McKenzie said, had assured the people that he would do everything possible to widen the scope of this act to take in urban areas so that homeowners might also be relieved of high interest rates.

THE SPOILER

The speaker attacked Mr. MacKenzie King for his criticism of the handling of the Japanese trade dispute. He contended that had Premier Bennett submitted to the wishes of Japan, and had the factory in Canada would have been closed down.

QUOTES REMUNERATION

D. B. Plunkett, Victoria Conservative, answered Col. Cy Peck, V.C., in connection with veterans' pensions, and deplored Col. Peck's action in introducing veterans' matters into a political campaign. Col. Peck, he declared, had received $36,317 during his three years on the Pension Tribunal, and was now included in the membership of the new board. He left it to the audience to reason why Col. Peck was now taking a stand on the Liberal platform.

HE CHARGED

Mr. McKenzie King with being more concerned for foreign countries than his own, and claimed that the leader of the Liberal party had not advanced one constructive policy for the solution of Canada's vital problems.

RAILWAY PROBLEM

Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown dealt with the railway problem, showing how the Canadian National Railway was a drain on the national purse, and that unless something was done to remove the burden off the taxpayers' shoulders it would eventually cause Canada's financial ruin.

The railway had been wished upon the people by a Liberal Government, he said. Last year the deficit of the C.N.R. was $50,000,000, he declared, and it was now just a question of how much longer the country could stand this drain on its treasury. Capt. W. J. Cox presided.

She was born in Somerset, England. The funeral took place Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. from the Jenkins Undertaking Parlors. Interment was made in Nanaimo Cemetery.

War Threat Remains As Mussolini Moves With Added Caution

Salvador de Madariaga, chairman of the League five-power committee, was an official declaration of Italian Government. Today's communique from Rome quoted Mussolini as informing the Council of Ministers Italy made no counter-proposals.

It is therefore thought highly desirable the council should have before it a definite and concrete statement of Italy's demands.

SITUATION DANGEROUS

While definite efforts at conciliation are not ruled out, the British as leaders of the League movement are pressing forward towards definite action by the council.

At a private meeting with the representatives of the Dominions, Anthony Eden, British Minister for League Affairs, today outlined the British position. It is understood he pointed out that the situation was one which would not brook delay. A chance shot might easily start fighting in East Africa. Therefore action was essential.

MANDATE SOUGHT

ROME, Sept. 24.—Premier Mussolini today called his Cabinet into session for an emergency discussion on the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, and from a vaguely worded reference he made to the League of Nations, it was understood that he was demanding nothing short of a legal mandate over the East African kingdom.

This solution of the problem might possibly be arranged through direct negotiations of the government, informed quarters believed, but that Emperor Haile Selassie would accept absolute Italian domination instead of international control of Ethiopia was considered highly doubtful.

POSSIBLE DEVELOPMENT

In the second special Cabinet meeting in four days, Mussolini made it clear he had not made any counter-proposals to the League five-power committee plan, but he suggested there might be possible developments in the situation on the basis of certain articles of the Geneva covenant. The meeting was adjourned until Saturday.

This statement aroused keenest speculation, and was believed in some circles to be a hint that Italy hopes to persuade the League Council so to interpret the covenant that a full mandate could be given Italy, thus avoiding war.

A tense nation still was awaiting its leader's one-day call to arms by which 10,000,000 blackshirts of all ages would be mobilized to demonstrate Italian unity. The dramatic summons originally scheduled for today was postponed and none knew just when it would come.

"RAID" ON MALTA

VALETTA, Malta, Sept. 24 (P).—A fleet of giant bombers and other aircraft dropped on Malta in a sham air raid today, with this tiny British island outpost plunged in darkness and eerie silence.

Promptly at 9:30 p.m., every house, street and traffic light blinked out and simultaneously, the twinkling lights of British warships riding at anchor in the harbor went off.

Thousands of citizens thronged the historic bastions of Valetta and the seafront during the raid.

Acting-Governor Luke surveyed the operations of Aerial and military authorities said they were well-coordinated with the island's loyal co-operation.

BABY CLAIMED BY TWO WOMEN

Each insists She Is Mother Of Child—Court Asked To Settle Case

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24 (P).—Two "mothers," each claiming parentage of a month-old baby yesterday, were ordered to present their arguments in court here, Wednesday morning.

Judge William Dee Back, the Solomon in the case, instructed Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, forty-three-year-old former social matron and alleged kidnapper, to bring the child before the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

He issued his order after a writ of habeas corpus was obtained by Anna Ware, nineteen-year-old unmarried mother of Newton, Pa., who asserted the child belonged to her.

ARRANGEMENT ALLEGED

It was alleged in the application for the writ that Mrs. Muench and her husband, Dr. Ludwig Muench, a St. Louis physician, arranged with other persons to bring Miss Ware to St. Louis and thus obtain custody of her as yet unborn child.

Mrs. Muench, several days later, announced the birth of a boy on August 18 at her home. A birth certificate later was filed by Dr. Muench, as attending physician.

When she announced the birth, Mrs. Muench termed it a "gift" from God to console her in her time of need. She had been childless through twenty-three years of married life.

IS SATISFIED WITH OUTLOOK

F. K. Morrow, C.N.R. Trustee, Declares Business Is Definitely Better

F. K. MORROW

"People are spending more and they are traveling more. I am well satisfied with the outlook," remarked Frederick K. Morrow, Toronto, trustee of the Canadian National Railways, director of the Bank of Toronto, and other large organizations, during an interview at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Business generally throughout Canada was better, he said, and was substantiated in this by his two traveling companions, John R. Lamb, Toronto, vice-president of the Bank of Toronto, and James Y. Murdoch, also of Toronto, president of the Noranda Mines.

Mr. Morrow has been making his annual inspection of the railroad, and expressed himself as being particularly pleased with the way matters were working out in the West. Business, he stated, was 25 per cent better than it was a year ago.

PRINCE RUPERT

Since the party arrived on the Coast, the order in council has been passed by the Federal Government for the sale of the floating drydock and shipyard owned by the Canadian National Railways at Prince Rupert to the Mutual Pulp & Paper Company, Ltd.

Mr. Morrow reported the people of Prince Rupert appeared to be very pleased over the transfer. He said he had heard on all sides, the hope expressed that increased industrial activity would result and Prince Rupert would benefit by the deal.

The tourist business this season drew considerable favorable comment from Mr. Morrow. He thought the Canadian National Steamships would continue the St. Prince Robert on the Northern British Columbia-Alaska route next Summer, and added that the ship was fully booked for the four Alaska cruises she made last Summer. The other ships in regular service are the Prince George and the Prince Rupert.

TO RELEASE VESSELS AT VANCOUVER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24 (P).—Settlement of the waterfront Pacific Coast shipping for several months moved a step closer today with agreement of the International Longshoremen Association to submit the "hot cargo" question to arbitration.

Meantime the Seamen's Union Labor Relations Board ordered release of two ships at Vancouver, B.C., loaded under strike conditions.

By a vote of five to one the board ordered sailors, firemen and marine cooks and stewards to man the McCormick steamship West Mahwah and the American-Hawaiian freighter Golden State, both of which have been tied up for some time.

Oak Bay Council Is Strongly Opposed to Government Scheme

R. F. Blandy, Municipal Clerk, Before Committee, Points Out That Fear Is Entertained of Much Heavier Taxation as Result of Plan

A MEMORANDUM has been prepared by the Government purporting to explain the scheme and set forth its advantages. It is obviously a piece of special pleading, tinged with the fervor of an enthusiast. For instance, we are told that for the first time in British Columbia the great majority of people will have adequate protection for their health, also that the plan will guarantee adequate and secure financial support for those persons and agencies that provide medical services and the plan will not be costly to the Province and to the municipalities.

In this language, the council of our population of Oak Bay, through its municipal clerk, R. F. Blandy, presented its memorandum of Oak Bay. "Medical care includes hospital treatment up to thirteen weeks. This is to be financed by a levy of 5 per cent on payroll, payable, 3 per cent by employers and 2 per cent by employees, also by a contribution from the general medical care of 500,000 province estimated at $90,000 a year.

and limited to $1,200,000. In addition two months' levies are to be made before benefits become payable; according to the estimates, this represents an initial tax of $1,067,000 on employees and employers.

OAK BAY COST

"So far as Oak Bay municipality is concerned, the plan would cost directly some $1,100 a year, which can only be obtained by increasing the taxation on real property or by reducing some of the services rendered to our people. The new hold-back from our employees' wages—over $3,000 a year—is not likely to be welcomed, coming on top of the 5 per cent holdbacks for superannuation and income tax. Notwithstanding the fact that the holdback may entitle the employee to certain prospective benefits, the element of compulsion is apt to be resented.

"A more insidious factor in the scheme is the Provincial contribution of $1,200,000. Many of our people pay large sums in provincial taxes, and it is difficult to see how this sum can be provided without an increase in taxation. The memorandum refers to some alleged savings in other directions, but the proof of such savings is meagre. The wish is probably, father to the thought."

Mr. Blandy, in the memorandum, set out that the estimated revenue from the payroll levy is placed at $6,400,000, based on the yield of the 1 per cent tax in 1933, which is given as $1,378,000. It is pointed out that the Department of Labor's estimate for 1933 of the total industrial payroll is $99,000,000. After making the deductions for those having over $200 a month and other reasonable deductions, there is estimated to be a taxable payroll under the bill of $84,000,000. The 5 per cent levy on that amount would total only $4,200,000, or $2,200,000 short of the estimated requirement.

Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir pointed out that one of the best statisticians was working on the scheme. He had had even the advantage of the brain-trust of the United States in this regard. He, therefore, did not feel that there was need of anticipating danger in this respect.

BUILDERS OBJECT

In addition to the presentation made by Mr. Blandy, the afternoon session was given over to a number of other suggestions offered by interested bodies. R. Leckie, secretary of the Vancouver Building & Construction Exchange, who was supported by other members of the organization and by James Parfitt, of the local Builders' Exchange, advocated delay in putting a bill like this into force at a time like the present. While 2 per cent might sound a large increase in the contributions at a time like this when building was at the lowest ebb, it meant much.

The charges under the Workmen's Compensation Act impounded locally and probably this would result similarly.

He also recommended that if it were brought into effect, that attention be given to the board. He thought three members would be the minister, whether the whole of the people in the Province should not be embraced within the plan. He declared the representation that doctors were giving their services free was not a correct one. Under the system in vogue at present, he felt that many doctors were charging about three times more than the services were worth and had to do so to make up for the services that were not paid for by others. Hospitals were following a somewhat similar course.

The plan which was adopted in the bill was for a systematic payment whereby those who could not ordinarily pay for medical attention would be able to do so. It was not a scheme by which the Government pretended to take care of the health of the people.

To those who stressed the need of the preventative end, Mr. Pearson said, no doubt the plan would develop along this line just as in the workmen's compensation scheme there grew naturally out of the payment for accidents the enforcement of rules for the prevention of accidents.

There might be a few doctors who placed their services very high who might not benefit under the plan, but he believed that the general practitioner would derive benefits.

OTHERS AFFAIR

Various other representations were made before the committee. C. H. Chivers, for the Victoria Trades and Labor Council, endorsed the principle of the bill, but had some improvements to suggest. He wanted to eliminate the word "indigent" from the act. There should be the same benefits for all coming under the act. Also it was requested that any legal form of medical practice in the Province should be open for selection by an insured.

Miss A. G. Creaser, the supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses here, suggested representation for women on the board and also wished to have the organization the represented given a share in the work to be carried out.

Dr. A. K. Haywood, of the Vancouver General Hospital, said that they had requests along this line from time to time and he wished to obtain information as to where they could get in touch with the V.O.N.

Miss Mary McGuire, Western supervisor of the order, said that the information would be given. The order was ready to co-operate as fully as their numbers would allow.

EXPRESSES THANKS

Reeve G. A. Tisdall, of North Cowichan, expressed his thanks for the services rendered the municipality by the doctors, the hospitals and the nurses for the care exercised of the residents of the municipality. He said everyone in the municipality would fall under the provisions of the bill. There were alterations if the bill in regard to the taxation on the land under this plan which he asked to be investigated.

Dr. J. I. Gorosh, of Vancouver, representing the British Columbia chiropodists, said that while endorsing the bill there were features that worked, he thought, against

NO COMMISSION

There was no likelihood of a Federal commission on state health being forthcoming for a long time. In detail he told of his conversation in Ottawa with the head of the department, Dr. Sutherland, who mentioned the proposition of such a Federal commission. Dr. Weir said that he told him he had no objection but that British Columbia did not need it, as this Province had gathered all the information, and in this respect was way ahead of other provinces.

Dr. Weir stated he had a telegram from Dr. Sutherland that there would be no commission appointed until after October.

MINISTER'S VIEWS

Hon. G. S. Pearson reiterated that there was no dependence to be placed on the Federal commission. British Columbia had gone very far in the investigation of the subject, and had had in the many community centres, where hospitals and doctors were operating on a system akin to that offered in this bill, practical experience that it could be made a success.

It was a question with him, said

OBJECT TO COST

The last to appear before the committee was Mr. L. W. of the Hudson's Bay Company's employees' sick benefit association of Vancouver. He also represented similar organizations in David Spencer Ltd., of Vancouver, and Woodward's, Vancouver. He objected to the cost of the new scheme outlined by the Government. The employers would pass the percentage paid by them onto the employees, who would have to carry the whole burden.

The working of the association he represented was studied by members of the committee with interest, as the collections made for it was only 25 cents a month. Medical and dental examinations were given for this and there was also the attendance of a nurse at the store in case of sickness. Half-pay was provided for cases of sickness up to six weeks' time.

DETAILS ATTACKED

The British Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons went on record yesterday morning as having no objections to a state health insurance proposition in principle. The scheme put forward in the draft bill on which the "hearings" committee have invited criticism was attacked in many of its details.

Gordon S. Wismer appeared as counsel for the body, presenting a report made by the medical council which took the position that the Province of British Columbia would be better employed in the line of prevention of disease rather than in the treatment of ailments as outlined in the bill. It was set forth that a commission was to go into the whole situation of state health for the Dominion and the British Columbia Government would be well advised to await the coming of this report. It was pointed out that under the plan in the bill the doctors would pay the penalty by suffering the loss when deficiencies were to be made.

The medical men set forth that in practice those earning $200 a month were in good position to maintain themselves and were considered among the best patients that a doctor could have. Even those earning $150 a month were able to get along well by exercising care.

Objection was taken to the fact that the Government took pains to avoid any responsibility over the amount set out which was what the work was costing the Government at the present time. Any deficiency would result in cutting down the doctors' allowances.

INDIGENT WORK

Objection was raised to the half-pay rate for indigents. In Vancouver it was estimated that the medical men had given $1,000,000 worth of services free. The medical men asked for at least two representatives on the board. The principle of payment for services rather than by a per capita system was sought. It was pointed out that delayed work, that should have been done before, would make increased work for the doctors should the scheme come into effect. It would take two years of extra work to overtake this condition.

Among the recommended alterations to be made, Mr. Wismer, for the College of Physicians and Surgeons, urged the postponement of any action until the Federal commission's report was received; that the scheme be made to apply to those earning less than $125 a month; and that full rates should be paid for indigent cases treated.

Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir said there

INCREASING TRADE

There is a story of progress all along the line in the record of this country's increasing trade. In August the Dominion's foreign commerce rose in value to $120,297,899 from the July figure of $104,653,584, and from a total of $98,756,706 for August of last year. Last month was the best in the value of this external trade since May of 1931, and the favorable trade balance of $21,179,773 was the highest of any since August of 1925.

A notable feature has been the increase of the export of agricultural products. These grew in value from $20,000,000 in August, 1934, to $23,000,000 last month.

For the five-month period of the fiscal year ending August 31st, the total exports of all Canadian products, those of foreign origin being excluded, rose in value from $258,879,407 to $278,546,265. Imports in the same period rose from $221,539,091 to $235,976,521. Thus the total trade of the period was up from $480,439,498 to $514,404,863. The itemized exports show increases in meats, lumber, and newsprint. More motor cars were exported, more copper and more unmanufactured nickel. Both Empire and foreign markets are taking Canadian products to an increased degree.

These figures are of particular interest at a time when an election campaign is in progress. The Liberal leader, Mr. Mackenzie King, claims that the tariff policy of the Conservative Government is strangling trade. The figures prove otherwise. Trade is progressively on the increase, and what is perhaps best of all, the adverse trade balance which developed under the late Mackenzie King Government has been wiped out and a substantial favorable balance is now shown. Canada is selling very largely in excess of her external purchases, which is an excellent position for any country to enjoy. The reversal in the external trade position is a most desirable one for a debtor nation.

THE LEAGUE ON TRIAL

It may be doubted if in all the course of history there were ever so many preliminary conversations relative to the subject of war or no war as in the case of Italy and Ethiopia. For nearly eight months the matter has been under debate. The situation remains almost exactly where it was months ago, and all suggestions for a compromise settlement are swept aside from time to time. The responsibility of the League of Nations remains as great as it ever was. It has either to allow a Power to engage in a war of conquest and flout its opinion, or it has to take steps to restrain this Power and accept the serious risks such a course would involve. The alternative to the latter course is the abandonment of the efforts of seventeen years to set up a tribunal for peace at Geneva.

Italy occupies the position before the League of becoming a potential aggressor and thus violating the provisions of the Covenant. That is the situation in a nutshell. If Italy, in the present instance, breaks the peace, and if by failure to take action the League condones her course, then it would seem as if an indefinite period of licensed spoliation will be inaugurated. A precedent would be created and one that would give particular comfort to Germany, which still holds in the forefront of her policies the restoration or the recapture of her colonial possessions. Moreover, an Italy unrestrained in a campaign in Ethiopia would mean an end of the collective system to insure peace, and it might well be doubted if that system would ever be invoked again. The fact is that the League of Nations is on trial as it never has been on trial before, even in the case of Manchukuo.

INFIERITY COMPLEX

It is said that vanity, timidity and anxiety are the three elements that make up what is called the inferiority complex. This complex now-a-days, as it probably always has been, is both an individual and a collective failing. It is described by M. Louis Martin-Chauffier, in a Paris publication, as the most mediocre of sins. He says that never were there men more vain than the small men of today, and never a vanity more revealing than theirs. They crave for the semblance of success. They desire to "show off." They want to represent something or somebody for the sake of a shadow of power. The writer says that the small man knows he is a mediocrity, but he cannot resign himself to the fact. "We live," he says, "in an era of alibis, in which everybody hopes to hide the void in himself under a bulging breast."

The person suffering from an inferiority complex may be both vain and timid. In one breath he attempts to guide his fellows; in the other he admits social inferiority. There is a common type of timid persons made up of dull and insipid individuals, usually those who continue to commit blunders, who say the wrong thing at the wrong time, or who resort to arrogance, irony or silence. They are too weak to overcome defeat; they are skeptical always about themselves. There is the inferiority complex in love as in so many other fields of endeavor. It exhibits itself always in much the same way, by hesitancy, by anxiety, by fear.

One of the troubles in the world today is that this complex should have emerged on the collective plane. There are national fears about the future, and nationalism in some respects, instead of being aggressive has become merely defensive. M. Martin-Chauffier says this is illustrated by the facts that are being signed, by the alliance that are being concluded, by the complex net of friendships that are kept alive by fear or doubt. This state of affairs, he says, is anything but reassuring. The conclusion of his argument in this respect is thus summarized: "Underlined by fear, the nations are, like the small men, victims of the deficiency of personality. When the inferiority complex becomes collective, its effects no longer figure in the chronicle columns. They demand the front page all to themselves and, if necessary, for many years."

FIFTY-FOUR PER CENT

Proportional representation is far from being all that is claimed for it by its supporters. That has been shown in the recent Alberta election. In that contest the Social Credit Party polled only 54 per cent of the votes cast and took 80 per cent of the seats. The Opposition votes were 46 per cent of the total polled, but that percentage only represented 11 per cent of the seats. The Liberals had 23 per cent of total votes cast, but they only got 8 per cent of the seats. The United Farmers polled 11 per cent of the total vote, and did not secure a single seat.

The lesson to be derived from these figures is that Alberta is not so overwhelmingly in favor of Social Credit as the actual results appear to indicate. It is true that Social Credit received a majority vote, but one comparatively small. There remains a very substantial opposition in the aggregate vote of the people of that Province. There is, as well, the illustration given that proportional representation is far from fulfilling the desires of its proponents. Premier Aberhart does not speak for a united voice of Alberta. His policies will meet with definite opposition in the Province, even if he can carry them through by his legislative majority. Social Credit to be made operative, like Socialism, needs a unanimous voice.

If the local Social Crediters in their election campaign declare for a fifty-dollar-a-month dole they will go 100 per cent better than Premier Aberhart of Alberta. Apparently the mentality of the exponents of that economic gospel is that the greater the stake the greater the bribe that should be offered for the winning of it. No matter how earnest Social Crediters are, there is something radically wrong with a political gospel which appeals to cupidity. The claim that their economic plan offers "something for nothing" is a slight exaggeration. It offers the dole, provided there are enough votes cast in its favor. It is a way for the credulous to imagine that they can win "superannuation" at the age of twenty-one.

SWALLOW SONG

O little hearts, beat home, beat home,
Here is no place to rest.
Night darkness on the falling foam
And on the fading West.
Oh, little wings be at home, be at home,
Love may no longer come.

O love has touched the fields of wheat,
And love has crowned the corn;
Sweet as the ways that love has trod
Through all the silver ways of morn.
Through all the silver ways of morn,
We pass, and have no care.

The silver roads of love are wide,
O winds that turn, O stars that guide,
Sweet as the ways that love has trod
Through the clear skies that lead to God.
But in the cliff-grass love builds deep
A place where wandering wings may sleep.

—Marjorie Pickthall.

SOCIAL "DIVIDEND" OR DOLE

It is somewhat ironical that a Canadian province should be the first to introduce a scheme of this kind when it is recalled how strong were the condemnations of the British "dole" that have come from the Dominion. The Social Credit proposals knock the "dole" out completely, because while it is restricted to certain classes of workers who are unemployed, Alberta is to give money to every adult, whether employed or unemployed, whether rich or poor. The experiment will be watched with interest on both sides of the Atlantic. How long it will be till Alberta is "eating its own tail" is a question that is now exciting the Dominion, where the unthinking in other provinces may be deluded into the belief that fantastic schemes involving revolutionary monetary theories can bring prosperity.

The conditions today call for active participation in public affairs by the best elements of our people.

—Sir Robert Borden.

Note and Comment

By R. R. D.

"Sir, you are a humbug," said Mr. Pickwick to Mr. Winkle, or words to that effect.

There used to be a story current about the students of Edinburgh University trying to play a practical joke on one of the eminent professors. The eminent professor must have specialized on the subject of biology or the allied subject of entomology, for the "boys" thought they could "put one over" on their instructor by constructing a big composed of many parts of other bugs, presenting the curious specimen to the professor and asking for a definition of its position in the widely-distributed and numerous insect tribe. "That, gentlemen," said the eminent and wide-awake professor, "is a humbug."

Every time we read a speech made by Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King we think of that story, and we cannot refrain from reading all Mr. King's speeches, because the hon. gentleman is an honorable man and would never descend to the depths of attempting to humbug the people of Canada—that is, not deliberately. When we detect anything of that kind in the statements of the Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition we charitably assume that we have detected an inadvertence, as we did when in a moment of candor Mr. King proclaimed in accents indicating anguish that the Liberal Party had been plunged in the Valley of Humiliation.

In one of his most recent contributions to the political history of Canada Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King dramatically and farcically declared that his mission was to deliver the enslaved people of his beloved country from the toils of the money trust. That is at once a confession and a revelation. It was some kind of a trust which controlled Beauharnois, and it contributed a quarter of a million dollars to the campaign fund of the party of the liberators. Well, sometimes it is necessary to fight fire with fire, and under the principles of Liberalism, of which Mr. King has always proclaimed himself the supreme custodian, it may be necessary in a crisis to fight money with money.

Those who do not know very much about the history of Mr. King may not be surprised at his enmity to money. Those who know his history better might be surprised at his public attitude to money if they did not correctly estimate his infinite capacity for adjusting himself to circumstances. It was this unique capacity which paved the way for his entry into public life and eventually made him leader of the Liberal Party. He has said himself that Sir William Mulock was his political godfather, and the now venerable Chief Justice of one of the highest courts is presumably a rich man and was at one time closely associated with the big financial interests of Toronto.

Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King was for years a member of a Liberal Government and for some years leader of a Liberal Government. His record as a minister or as Prime Minister does not indicate that he ever did anything likely to prejudice the interests of money. That record may not indicate that there is anything in his character akin to the character of the bug which the students constructed for the purpose of fooling the smart professor. But Mr. King is above all things a practical politician. The ambition of any practical politician is to get into power and stay in power if he can. The principles of a practical politician are adjustable, and very often those principles are so adjusted as to fool a majority of the people part of the time, but they cannot be so adjusted as to fool all the people all the time.

It suits the political purposes of the Right Hon. Gentleman at the present time to proclaim his antagonism to money and his devotion to the people, who, like most of us, have little or no money. One part of his policy of emancipation is to take the Bank of Canada out of private control and deliver it over to the people. The people in this case means the politicians, for that is the meaning of government control and administration. The Western provinces of Canada are all under Liberal administration and they have all been saved from bankruptcy by drafts on the Federal treasury.

By way of parenthesis it may be said Mr. King includes the Government of Alberta in his Liberal list, the distinction between it and the

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of September 25, 1885)
The General's Victory—The English yacht General encountered a cyclone in her 100-mile race with the Dauntless. Two of the sailors were injured by heavy seas that hurried the General, but she was not damaged. The Dauntless, which was the fastest of the fleet, was not returned to New York.

Inspected Repair—Captain Lewis returned in the steamer Sir James Douglas yesterday afternoon, having inspected the alterations and repairs at Race Rocks, recorded by Charles Hayward. This work will be completed on Saturday night. Captain Lewis also inspected the work at Discovery Island and Lighthouse by Minister and Westminister, of New Westminster, who will complete their contract at the end of the month.

Marriage Belated—On Tuesday night another of Victoria's fair daughters, in the person of Miss F. J. Berwick, was united in marriage. The fortunate man being Mr. P. Gordon, of Kamloops. The ceremony was celebrated at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Berwick, and the bride couple left for their honeymoon on the steamer Vancouver yesterday morning. They have the congratulations of many friends in Victoria.

DEAN TO SPEAK HERE SHORTLY

Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson Will Appear at Empire Theatre on Oct. 3

Organizer of the "League to Abolish Poverty" and a noted author and world-wide traveler, Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, has arrived in Canada for his first trip across the Dominion and has been induced by friends to speak here publicly upon his arrival.

It is the distinguished visitor's contention that poverty, with its plagues, sickness, misery and grinding toll are unnecessary today and he will expound the Social Credit policy and the procedure whereby a peaceful production may be obtained by a sinner system of distribution and monetary realignment.

He will expound the remedy for poverty and misery when he speaks at the Empire Theatre here on Thursday, October 3, at 8 p.m.

BENEFICATOR OF POOR

As a benefactor of the poor and one who has come face to face in his work with stark starvation and poverty, he has his intention during his Canadian visit to secure recruits to the army of those who are determined to abolish poverty. A world-wide traveler, he saw more primitive poverty in China when he served in that country in 1923 in connection with the Chinese Relief Fund activities following the great flood which left millions homeless and starving. During this period, he traveled through the heart of China across Mongolia and down into Tibet.

His thrilling experiences in these bandit-infested areas were many, but his study of economic conditions only served to accentuate his desire for a proper distribution of this world's goods. The Dean has carefully pointed out that his visit has no political significance.

GREENKEEPERS' THANKS

Sir,—The Victoria Greenkeepers' Association wishes to thank all members of the Royal Colwood, Victoria, Gorge Vale and Macaulay clubs for their donations towards the prize list. Also all professionals and the following firms for prizes: Scott & Peden, McLennan, McPeck, Prior, Oak Bay Hardware, Terry's, W. & J. Wilson, Mickey Richardson's, Hoyle-Brown, Fairbanks-Morse, Straiths, Two Jack and Hill's Corner General Store. Also the association wishes to thank the Royal Colwood Golf Club for the use of its course for the tournament.

A. C. SMITH, Secretary, Victoria Greenkeepers' Association, Victoria, B.C., Sept. 24, 1935.

AN ICE A-ENA

Sir,—A few months ago one heard a great deal of talk regarding an ice arena, but today, with the Winter approaching, it has evidently become, once again, a dead issue. Surely something can be done. If we have the true community spirit, such as Trail and Nelson (and we surely have to take a back seat to them in our town who would enjoy many a game of curling. The days of the Victoria Congress would be revived, as Canada today has an army of young hockey players.

In my opinion, Mr. Editor, that if some well-known social club were to take the lead and open an office whereby, through a community effort, those who love to skate and watch hockey could contribute $10 or more, as a basis for the erection of an ice arena, which would be a credit to Victoria, the capital city of British Columbia.

GEORGE CHURCH, 2722 Topp Avenue, Oak Bay, B.C., September 24, 1935.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Sir,—I fail to see why your correspondent, Mr. Ekman, should regard whatever for his criticism of the League of Nations. To begin with, some of the powerful nations are not represented in the League, making it lacking in the power it otherwise would have. The best interests, however, of such a body must fall if it cannot command the good will and co-operation of the nations subscribing to it.

But his chief complaint is the total absence from every one of the League's Covenant clauses of the name of God. Let it once be understood that man, not God, is the maker of his own destiny, individually as well as nationally, and that what he has now he must also reap, and we will have more respect for the League of our nature. The League is doing this. In its efforts, whether successful or not, of adjustment, reformation and arbitration, it is sowing the seeds of good will, understanding and peace, and whether or not the harvest thereof shall be reaped in our day or at a future time, they are fulfilling Divine law, even if the name of God was never brought up. It is our motive and our act by which we are judged.

It is to be regretted that we drew our Western faith from a Jewish source and founded our ethics on the Old Testament instead of the New. We are of our own kindred in India. What we do to do with a Semitic people? Christ Himself was a true Oriental teacher, but the Semitic attitude to life and death is a thing wholly alien to us and has failed the thinkers of our people when brought into collision with science. We can assure Mr. Ekman that whether the League has "made" and the prophet or not, it is not going to be helped much thereby, whereas broader vision by the people at home, some understanding of the many delicate problems to be tackled, and most of all a spirit of universal brotherhood.

confusion will be added to if the R.C.G.A. starts giving independent rulings. The R. & A. decisions are accepted by the whole civilized world, with the exception of the U.S., and personally I would regret any break with the R. & A. by Canadian authorities. In any event, the R.C.G.A. when it took it upon itself to temporarily permit the use of this illegal club, should have informed the affiliated clubs of its action. Having temporarily permitted its use, it was in my opinion, its duty either to give a ruling of its own or obtain one from the R. & A. as expeditiously as it well could.

My action has brought the matter to a head, and golfers will no doubt in due course be informed if the R.C.G.A. intends breaking with St. Andrews on this issue.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

COFFEE HOUSE
The term "coffee house" is derived from the coffee houses in Europe, where men congregate for gaming. In each case, the player is a few players who exist on the bets they win from less skilled contestants. When skill itself is not sufficient to win they resort to petty tricks by which they cause their opponents to misplay.

If any game should depend entirely on skill it is chess. But the coffee house chess players find means to minimize the element of skill. They make their moves so rapidly as to confuse their adversaries. When the opponent is thinking they assume an attitude of impatient waiting. They repeatedly scan their opponent's face, cross and recross their legs, and sigh with apparent resignation. They smoke ill-smelling cigars and puff in the eyes of their opponents. By many such tricks they annoy the other player so that he will move incorrectly.

The coffee house player has a brother in the unethical bridge player. I must admit that many of the unfair and even dishonorable methods used by bridge coffee houses, while they are reprehensible, are amusing. Here is how I once was tricked by a coffee house player of the deepest dye.

My partner had just obtained the bid at six spades. I was to be dummy, and I was anxiously waiting for the opening lead to be made so that I could lay down my hand and welcome the few minutes' respite that is mine when I am dummy.

The player whose turn it was to lead did not oblige me. He sat interminably, it seemed to me, without moving, while he decided what card to lead. Finally he shook his head disquietedly, as though unable to make up his mind. In an absent-minded manner he took a piece of chewing gum from his pocket, unwrapped it, and put it in his mouth. He thought a moment more. Then suddenly he sat bolt upright in his chair and tossed something out on the table. With a sigh of relief I laid down the dummy hand, face up. Only at this moment did I bother to notice what he had thrown on the table.

It was the chewing gum wrapper. Now, with an opportunity to study the dummy before leading, he had no difficulty in choosing his best lead. I had been fooled, and by the worst kind of play-acting. But it taught me a lesson and I still can laugh at it.

TOO ELOQUENT HESITATION
When a player hesitates it becomes clear that he has a choice of two or more bids or plays. An ethical player avoids hesitation and is equally careful not to take advantage of information received from his partner's unwitting hesitation.

VICTORIA BOY DIES IN SEA DISASTER

way to Montreal from Halifax with a cargo of corn when the gale roared down from the northeast. As she pitched and rolled in great seas, every available sailor of her twelve men was put to work pouring oil on the waters. It did no good. One wave after another battered her farther over to starboard. Finally, with her very funnel touching the tips of the rollers, the one lifeboat left available was cleared. All hands piled into it. Within sight of the crippled ship, they stood by for just a half hour and then saw her sink at 6 o'clock.

LIFEBOAT OVERTURNS

Less than an hour later the lifeboat itself went over as a huge wave crashed over it. All returned to its comparative safety, only to lose mate as the bobbing craft rolled over once more.
By then there was nothing left in the boat. Oars, food, water, equipment, all had gone. Huddled on the bare seat, with water swirling around their knees and the boat lurching drunkenly, the eleven remaining crewmen sat and waited for death.

Eighteen-year-old Alex Wait, of Victoria, a donkeyman, was the first to go. He went without a word, the survivors say, and so did Captain Gardner, who died next, about two hours later.

Time was of no account then to the men in the boat, and they did not know how long it was before the paralyzing cold claimed third mate as the bobbing craft rolled over once more.

IS REWARDED FOR RETURNING BONDS

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (P).—From the lowly plane of delivery boy of "coffee and—" at $3.15 a week young Albert Correll vaulted to a remunerative position in Wall Street today.
Correll's role in "the street's" newest success story was cast when he picked from the gutter a packet of bonds valued at $150,000 and returned them to the owners. Today C. F. Grunwald, vice-president of C. F. Childs & Co., Wall Street, Gardner, who died next, about two hours later.

DECLARES NEW POLICY NEEDED

F. Partridge Says Victorians
Have Lost Respect for Chamber of Commerce

Victoria Chamber of Commerce has lost the confidence and respect of the people, Frank Partridge told directors at a meeting yesterday, in charging the chamber had been lax in its duties.

"It is time we put our house in order," he declared.

A new policy was needed, Mr. Partridge continued, by which "anything in the best interests of the city should be taken up and pushed to the limit, irrespective of affiliations, party or otherwise."

Because of its policy, city businessmen did not see any advantage in joining the chamber, thus the membership had decreased from 800 in 1930 to approximately 200 at the present time, he contended. Mr. Partridge then proposed a special committee to go into the matter.

The question was opened when President W. T. Straith referred to the lack of funds in the organization. On his suggestion the membership committee was asked to prepare plans for launching a membership campaign immediately following the election.

In answer to Mr. Partridge's remarks Mr. Straith explained the Chamber of Commerce had always endeavored to keep away from contentious issues.

The same evening, at 9.15, he will address the electors in St. Mark's Hall, Bolekine Road.

Cabinet Meeting—Preoccupied with sittings of the state health inquiry, members of the Provincial Cabinet adjourned the usual Tuesday morning executive meeting until the afternoon, when the Cabinet considered Vancouver's bond issue, and ratified a loan to Kaslo. Four members of the Cabinet sat in at the health inquiry for a while yesterday.

Charged With Assault—Arising out of an incident that occurred when a Canadian Airways airplane was about to take off at Esquimalt, a Saanich man will appear in Esquimalt court charged with assault of Pilot Billy Wells. It was stated by police yesterday. The incident occurred at 4.30 o'clock Monday afternoon, and the accused is alleged to have interfered with the pilot after being refused passage on the plane.

Opposition Leader—RT. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King will be the featured speaker at a Liberal rally to be held at the Royal Victoria Theatre, on Friday evening. Liberal officials confirmed yesterday. Premier T. D. Pattullo, Byron Johnson, M.P.P., and Jack McDowell will support the platform. B. C. Nicholas, editor of the Victoria Times, will take the chair. The meeting will commence at 8 p.m., with proceedings to be broadcast.

A mild attack upon the Liberal and Conservative parties was made by Mrs. Grace MacInnis, of Vancouver, in addressing a C.C.F. meeting in the Chamber of Commerce last evening. Prof. J. King Gordon, Victoria C.C.F. candidate, also spoke.

"It is extremely difficult to determine the Liberal policy," remarked Mrs. MacInnis. "The Premier of British Columbia is pledged to borrow and to keep on borrowing, but Premier Mitchell Hepburn says we must borrow more and tighten up our belts. Liberals seek to flood Canada with goods we have not the money to purchase, yet Byron Johnson, M.P.P., advocates regional tariffs for the province," the speaker related.

ADMIRE MR. BENNETT
Mrs. Bennett, she said, was an able politician and had worked harder than any man in the House of Commons. He was the only man in Canada who was big enough to attempt to end the depression and still adhere to capitalism, but she felt he had failed. Liberal, Conservative, Reconstruction and Social Credit parties all stood for the rehabilitation of the capitalist system, she stated.

Mrs. MacInnis told how many ancestors of Canadians came to the country because of crop failures or through grasping landlords. Their descendants today found themselves in the same position, but had no place to run to.

"We are going to stay right here and make this our country through assistance of the C.C.F.," she concluded.

Prof. King Gordon claimed that once in power the C.C.F.'s first concern would be for the unemployed. Housing schemes and great electric lighting projects would be commenced to provide work at a rate of pay which would ensure a good standard of living. Maximum hours of work for every business and industry would be fixed, and rigidly enforced. The C.C.F. would make work for many.

Mr. Bennett could not be blamed alone for the decline in Canadian trade, he asserted. This had been caused through tariff walls erected by many nations which took their lead from the United States. He predicted that tariffs would be removed even higher because of certain elements of the population who were over-anxious to fill their pockets.

TAKE OVER RESOURCES
Natural resources would all be peacefully taken over in order that the standard of living could be raised, Professor Gordon stated. He vehemently declared that these resources should never have been allowed to fall within control of a few men who sacrificed others for their own gain.

Outlining the security offered by a C.C.F. government, Prof. Gordon claimed that all candidates in the federal field were ignoring the depression and talking of many irrelevant matters.

Alfred Carmichael, chairman, tendered a hearty vote of thanks to the speakers on behalf of the audience.

Mr. Dickie declared Mr. Bennett has aroused the ire of the millionaires for his humanitarian work on behalf of the working class. Mr. Cunliffe dealt with the adverse trade conditions confronting the Bennett Administration when it took office. He pointed out that the Bennett Administration had resulted by the action of the Mackenzie King administration.

Canada, essentially an exporting country, he said, needed a strong hand to direct it in the course of further reforms. They are, he said, tremendous losses to Canada, and explained the capitalist system of government as "personal ownership" rather than exploitation. "Capitalism does not allow certain individuals to make millions overnight by stepping on the backs of others," he said.

TRADE IS BUILT
However, in the past few years the Conservative party had built up a workable inter-empire trade policy, which needed the continuance of the Bennett Administration to carry it out. He supported the Government's policy on the Japanese tariff question. Mr. Cunliffe, too, defended the Government's action in connection with the much-discussed Section 98 of the Criminal Code.

He outlined the various Bennett reforms, including the Bank of Canada Act, the Farm Creditors Arrangement Act, and the Natural Products Marketing Act.

Mr. Wootton criticized the Liberal party for its lack of humanitarian legislation during the time it held office. He spoke at length on the fine career of Mr. Dickie, and urged his support.

Mrs. Dickie and Robert Worsley gave vocal selections.

BRITAIN DESIRES

"Continued peace" is the cry of the average man in the south of England, stated Thomas Hunt, retired businessman of Essex, during an interview at the Dominion Hotel, yesterday. Accompanied by Mrs. Hunt, he is enjoying a prolonged visit in Canada, the second in three years. Both visitors are delighted with Victoria. From here they may go to the West Indies.

In Mr. Hunt's opinion, there would be little reaction by the people in his section of the country should Mussolini take over Ethiopia, but should the Italian dictator want more of Africa, all parties in Britain would come together and rise up in common strength.

Business conditions in Essex have been improving for some time, and although things are not as good as they were in pre-war days, the people are optimistic, he reported.

Women of Canada Make Farewell Presentation

Her Excellency the Countess of Bessborough Receives Gold Cup—Watches Are Given to Family of Governor-General

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 (P.—Canada's women today made a gesture of farewell to the Countess of Bessborough and her three children, one of them a Canadian, in a presentation ceremony at Government House, where they were represented by Lady Perley and members of the national committee for the Lady Bessborough gift fund.

GIFTS PRESENTED

Lady Perley, wife of Sir George Perley, presented Her Excellency with a gold cup sixteen and one-quarter inches high bearing the inscription: "Her Excellency, the Countess of Bessborough, from the women of Canada, 1931-1935." To the Bessborough children she presented watches, white gold ones for Lord Duncannon and Hon. George St. Lawrence Neill-Pensby, and a diamond bracelet one for Lady Moyra.

In her address to the countess, Lady Perley said: "Our only regret is that it is a farewell gift, for your charming personality had endeared you to all those who have had the honor of meeting you."

A TREASURED MEMORY

In her speech of acceptance, the countess said: "I do not need any reminder of our happy years in Canada. The kindness and friendliness of the welcome we received all over the Dominion will always be a most treasured memory, but I shall think of always as a loving cup, I see the final proof of the affection of the women of Canada have always shown to me. This afternoon I reciprocate most truly."

Cowichan Hospital W.A.

The W.A. to the Cowichan Hospital Association held a well-attended meeting at the Nurses' Home, Duncan, the vice-president, Mrs. K. P. Duncan occupying the chair. A letter of resignation was read from Mrs. G. H. Savage, who has been president of the W.A. for the past eight months. Mrs. Savage's resignation was received with great regret and accepted with the hope of a speedy recovery to health. Mrs. Duncan agreed to carry on the duties of president until the end of the year.

The reports of the Summer fete and of the Autumn hospital tag day were read and proved very satisfactory. The money acquired by the auxiliary this year is being devoted to building a new children's ward, over $500 being already in hand. Arrangements were completed for the annual fruit and vegetable shower for the hospital, which will be held at the Nurses' Home on October 16, when tea will be served and a musical programme arranged to entertain all contributors.

December 7 was fixed as the date for the community bazaar for the hospital. All local women's organizations will be approached for assistance as in the past. Mrs. Neil McIver reported a number of useful articles already contributed for the auxiliary's own stall at the bazaar. Mrs. J. E. Saunders reported that 100 articles had been made by the new sewing committee for the hospital during the summer months and Mrs. H. W. McKenzie reported on the mending which is being taken care of by various women's societies. Tea was served after the meeting by Mrs. A. M. Holding, Mrs. Alex Rey and Mrs. Hector Marsh.

Daughters of Pity—An evening bridge to be held on Friday, November 1, was arranged by the Daughters of Pity at their monthly meeting held at the Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Home last night. Miss Kathleen Roberts, the president, was in the chair, and sixteen members attended. Miss Mitchell announced that the treatment table will cost $20 and asked for supplies of linen for the children's ward, including two dozen cot spreads, two dozen sheets, two dozen pillow cases, one bolt of flannel and two yards of unbleached cotton for bibs. A letter was received from Miss Vera Watson, supervisor of the children's ward, who is leaving to be married, thanking the members for their cooperation while on the staff. The annual meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 22. Miss Lovell and Miss I. Bannerman were hostesses for the evening.

Fellowship Circle—The King's Daughters' Fellowship Circle held its first business meeting of the season on Monday evening at the King's Daughters' rooms with President Molly Humphries in the chair. Prominent Worker to Visit Here

The Y.W.C.A. board of directors are looking forward to having as their guest Miss Emma Kaufman, special representative of the Canadian Association to Tokio, Japan. Miss Kaufman will arrive Saturday morning and leave that afternoon on S.S. President McKinley for the Orient. She will be accompanied by Miss Margaret Hockin, a Canadian secretary, who is to assist on the Y.W.C.A. staff in Tokio.

After lunch with the board members, Miss Kaufman will address an open meeting at 3 o'clock, to which Y.W.C.A. members and friends are invited. The membership committee, convened by Miss Norma Macdonald, will be hostesses for tea.

It is now twenty years since Miss Kaufman first became associated with the Tokio Y.W.C.A., an association which has been faithfully maintained throughout this entire period.

KITCHENER Y.W.C.A.

Before going to Japan, Miss Kaufman was an active member of the Kitchener Y.W.C.A., of which her mother was the first president, and one who has been a prominent member of Y.W.C.A. circles for many years.

Miss Kaufman was associated with the late Miss Caroline Macdonald in the Tokio Association, which she went to Japan in 1919. In 1915 she was appointed an official representative of the Dominion Council, though still giving her services voluntarily. At this time she assumed the duties of secretary-ship in Tokio, and still continues to act in that capacity. She was instrumental in obtaining the association building in that city prior to the earthquake, and shared largely in securing the present one.

HONORED BY EMPEROR—Miss Kaufman devoted her time to earthquake relief in 1923. She was presented by the Emperor of Japan with a silver cup in 1929, a signal honor in appreciation of her work for girls and women of the country.

Miss Kaufman has been responsible for providing a Summer camp and for developing the household science and commercial departments of the Tokio Association, as well as contributing in many other ways to Y.W.C.A. work in Japan.

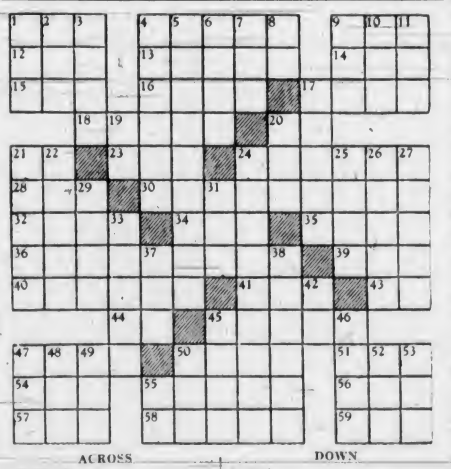

The best wishes of the Canadian Association follow Miss Kaufman back to her work.

ROYAL OAK
The September meeting of the Royal Oak Institute was held in the hall recently, having been postponed from an earlier date on account of the Fall Fair. There were eighteen present and the president, Miss K. Oldfield, was in the chair. Two minutes of silence was observed, after which the minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Mead-Robins, and a satisfactory financial report submitted by Miss Eva Phillips, the treasurer.

A great deal of correspondence was dealt with, including a letter from the correspondence high school for pupils in isolated districts unable to attend night school. Mrs. F. Reeves' convener for Alexandra Solarium X-ray fund, submitted her report, and a hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. K. Mead-Robins, and all others who attended the exhibition at the Wilhows and helped in any way to make it such a decided success. The institute is now raising the final $1,000 needed to reach its objective of $5,000, which will be used to install an X-ray in the Solarium. On the suggestion of Mrs. J. Reid a supper will be given in honor of the Royal Oak Cycle Club, who deserve great credit for their clean sportmanship. objection is being taken through the courts calling into question the validity of the securities which have been or are to be issued to pay for the undertakings authorized by the Legislature.

"I am aware that there is considerable controversy over the site of the proposed City Hall. The Government does not propose to enter into this controversy. This is a matter for the City of Vancouver to settle through its City Council. All that the Government proposes to do is to place beyond doubt the authority of the City Council to carry out the intention of existing legislation," the Premier stated.

The Government's decision to support Vancouver's action in regard to the special bond issue by validating legislation came suddenly yesterday, after ten days' deliberation on the point. The decision was regarded as one of great importance to Vancouver, in view of repeated requests for this support.

U.S. AGREEMENT EXPECTED SOON

But with so many ministers engaged in the campaign, it might not be possible to make such progress. In that event, return of the Conservative Government would insure that the negotiations would go forward without a break.

After reiterating the embarrassment caused by Mr. King in the conduct of trade negotiations with Japan, and the attempt of the Liberal leader to force Canada's international affairs into the realm of domestic politics, the Prime Minister went on to discuss the unemployment situation.

His Government, faced with a serious unemployment relief problem with which the responsible provinces were financially unable to cope, had undertaken to see that no man, woman or child should go hungry, unaided or without shelter. Mr. Bennett told the story of the relief camps for single unemployed transients, and the effort had been most successful "until in the last few months there had been initiated on this continent the greatest effort to break down the institutions in this country."

REPRESENTED RUSSIA

Agitators "who represent Soviet Russia" went among those camps and caused strife, and the other day a delegation from Canada to the Third Internationale stood up and boasted that 90 per cent of the strikes in Canada in the past year had been inspired by Communist agents.

To a question from a man in the gallery, Mr. Bennett said there was ample proof that money was entering Canada from Moscow. He referred to the longshoremen's strike in Vancouver and the ships lying idle in the harbor.

"What keeps those ships idle?"

"Moscow agents," answered a man in the audience, waving a document, "and I have the proof right here."

"Why do you release these men who go about preaching Communism?" asked another questioner, when Mr. Bennett had made some reference to "Tom Buck."

"My friend, I'm glad you asked that question," Mr. Bennett replied.

"There is a rule in penitentiaries that prisoner may be paroled for good conduct. To show that the Government is not vindictive, Tom Buck was treated the same as any other man."

The Liberal "high command" had thought the general tendency of people to turn against the Government of the day would win them a victory without the need of effort or policy. "But they were wrong, and the high command is now in full retreat."

Mr. King had no definite policy for Canada because he had been told by his "high command" that none was needed.

"Whispering campaign" was their leader, but general depression is falling on them and they know not which way to turn. The Liberal party is like a ship at sea, veering this way and that to take advantage of every breeze that blows."

A "whispering campaign" was being carried out from time to time, giving the impression that one member of the Government or another had certain definite views about amalgamation of Canada's railways. Mr. Bennett observed. He proposed a full investigation into the whole transportation problem, and if amalgamation were recommended it would be submitted to the people for decision before any action was taken.

750 Radio Dealers "say it" with Record Breaking Orders!

Radio Dealers and Jobbers Attending Toronto Convention, June 24-25, 1935.

Over 16,600 Radios in One Day!

Those were the orders placed for the new sets using ROGERS Multi-Purpose Metal Spray Tubes

WHEN radio dealers saw the radios equipped with the New Rogers Metal Spray Tubes they were astounded at the performance of these new sets.

And they showed their astonishment and belief in this greatest of all radio tube improvements by placing record-breaking orders of over 16,600 radios in one day.

Think of it—about 10% of all radios produced in Canada in one year by all manufacturers was ordered by dealers within the short space of twenty-four hours.

These new tubes are the most revolutionary advance since Rogers perfected the first batteryless radio.

Outstanding characteristics of the Rogers Multi-Purpose Metal Spray Tubes embody: 1. Guaranteed noise-free construction and operation. 2. Perfect shielding. 3. Durability and uniformity in operation. 4. Multi-purpose construction. 5. New-type base with the dowel guide plug. Important as are these improvements in reception of ordinary stations, they are doubly important when tuning in short-wave.

There are ordinary glass tubes with metal cans around. Others use metal tubes without the glass. But there is only one Genuine Multi-Purpose Metal Spray Tube consisting of a glass tube impregnated with metal over and into the actual glass itself. That is the Rogers Multi-Purpose Metal Spray Tube. It is the only tube of this type with any record of proven performance (4 years).

Do not be misled or deceived by statements or claims regarding glass tubes protected with metal cans or metal tubes without the glass.

Look in the back of the radio. Insist on the Genuine Rogers Metal Spray Tubes.

CUBS-CARDS SERIES OPENS TODAY AT ST. LOUIS

Cardinals Are Three Games Behind on Eve Of Crucial Fixtures

Clubs Will Open Five-Game Stand at St. Louis—Two Victories Will Give Chicago National League Pennant—Cards Defeat Pirates

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals set the stage for the opening of their five-game crucial series with Chicago Cubs today by defeating Pittsburgh, 11-2, and advancing within three games of the National League Leaders, who were idle.

The situation still was squarely up to the Cardinals, however, as they must win four out of five to tie the Cubs. Only a clean sweep would send the champions into the world series against the Tigers without going through a two-out-of-three playoff.

Here's how the two clubs stood after today's game:

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24 (AP).—Wild Bill Hallahan gave only three hits as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh, 11-2, today to give warning to the league-leading Cubs that the 1935 world champions are not yet out of the National League title chase.

The Cards need five victories to win the championship, but four out of five would bring them a tie and require a play-off. The Deans are ready, Paul being slated to start against Lon Warneke. Dizzy Boyd will pitch Thursday.

The opening of the J.B.A.A. Rugby football match of the 1935-36 season will be played at Oak Bay Park on Thanksgiving Day, the last day of the coming month, when the local clubmen will line up against the first Argonaut Rugby fixture, of Vancouver, one of the best club teams on the Mainland.

Negotiations for the match were clinched yesterday by Secretary John P. Sweeney for the match here and a return game will be played on the Terminal City grounds on the Saturday following the big Fall holiday.

Billy Ellis, of the Mainlander Rugby fifteen, wrote to the local club yesterday.

Most interesting, Mrs. Clark has a fund of information concerning Far Eastern countries and their peoples; for besides being a collector of rare treasures, she has devoted considerable time to the study of Oriental character. Her expressed reactions are both refreshing and educational, giving one the impression that she spends her time to advantage while traveling.

During the past Summer, Mrs. Clark has visited the Philippine Islands, China, Japan, Manchukuo and Korea. She has been crossing the Pacific since 1906, she stated yesterday.

Local Rugby Season To Open October 19; May Revive "B" Loop

Prospects for 1935-36 Campaign Look Exceptionally Bright at Organization Meeting—Many Clubs Reported Seeking Franchises

Tentative plans for the opening of the 1935-36 season on Saturday, October 19, were made yesterday evening at a meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union held in The Colonial board room.

While definite entries for the season have not yet been filed with Secretary George Paulin, indications point to at least six clubs playing in the senior "A" section of the Victoria Rugby Union during the 1935-36 campaign.

Navy, who wound up their thirteen-year Barnard Cup jaunt by gaining possession of the coveted silverware, will be seen in action again this season. Fifth Brigade, Cowichan Shield winners, will also be back in the thick of the fight with another strong fifteen.

Canadian Scottish, B.A.A., Oak Bay Wanderers and the Garrison are the other clubs figured as sure starters in the Barnard Cup chase.

MAY REVIVE "B" SECTION
Dropped last season because of lack of entries, the Senior "B" Division may be revived this year with a possibility of at least five fifteen battling for the honors. Garrison, who made their debut in the Victoria Rugby Union in this division, and last year graduated to the "A" section, are considering entering two clubs this year, one in the "B" and the other in the "A" division. Navy are reported to be interested in the "B" section, Fifth Regiment and J.B.A.A. have also been named as possible candidates in this section.

In the Intermediate League five clubs, Wanderers "Blues," last season's champions, Wanderers "Whites," Victoria College, 18th Canadian Scottish Regiment and the Fifth Brigade are expected to be sure starters.

The union decided to leave the final date for the filing of entries open until October 7, realizing that it would still leave two weeks before the season gets under way.

MEETING DAYS
Meeting days were changed from Tuesdays to Mondays with The Colonial board room named as the official committee room.

Brian Hunsings, Victoria Rugby Union registrar during the past season, was again appointed for this important post.

The meeting heard with considerable satisfaction of the game here on January 29 with the touring New Zealand All-Blacks and the proposed fixture here in April with the Oxford University fifteen. The English players are billed for a series of games in California and every effort will be made to have them come here for at least one match.

staked him like a panther after a stricken game. He stabbed Baer's head with his long lefts, twice hooked Baer's chin with his lefts. He was setting Max up for the kill. A left sank deep in Max's body and he stumbled back. Another left and right bent him at the middle. A left and right to the chin rocked Max and as he leaned back against the ropes he threw his first punch of the round, a light right to the head. Max backed into another corner, blood dribbling down his lips, and Referee Donovan warned him for backhanding. Louis was boldly deliberate as he flung a left hook into Baer's head, then smashed his mouth up with a biting volley of left jabs. Louis missed a long right and they fell into a clinch. A long right floored Baer. He dropped to his knees, dropped his hands to his knees, and stayed there helpless as Referee Donovan counted him out, a knockout victim in two minutes and fifty seconds after the start of the fourth.

The paid attendance was $4,831, but the aggregate onlookers, including holders of thousands of complimentary tickets, nearly 2,000 police and 1,000 employees, exceeded 90,000.

FORMER CHAMPION IS NO MATCH FOR LOUIS
He hammered his head unmercifully. Baer reeled in the corner, pinned there, and Louis hammered him savagely up to the bell. Blood covered his face. Baer slumped daintily at the high ring, his head to his seat. Louis' round.

ROUND TWO
Again Baer came up slowly, pawing with his left and Louis snapped a left hook into his face. Baer crouched low as the calm negro stalked him, the negro was trickling again from Max's nose. They boxed carefully in midring and suddenly Louis smashed Baer into a corner with three tremendous rights to the chin. Baer grinned foolishly, utterly unable to solve Joe's attack as the negro nailed him first with a left hook, and another right to the jaw at the ropes. Baer's face was crimson from a stream of Louis left-jabs. Joe whipped a left hook into the body, a smooth moving chocolate machine, then belted the big white man into the ropes with another right to the head. They cuffed at close quarters, blood from Baer's face crimsoning the brown man's shoulders, and just as the bell sounded, Baer whipped a terrific right to the negro's head. The negro faltered for a second on the ropes and Baer lashed him furiously with both hands, keeping it up after the bell until Referee Donovan pulled him away. Louis' round.

ROUND THREE

ROUND FOUR
Baer came out haltingly and Louis

TO HANG FIRE

Used almost exclusively today in the sense of delay or indecision, the phrase "to hang fire" is an interesting application to everyday life of an old military metaphor.

When the gunner was slow in communicating fire through the vent to the charge, it would be said that "the gun hangs fire," meaning, of course, "the gun will be late going off."

From this sprang the general connotation of hesitation or suspense, as in the sentence "his late hanging fire" the allusion being to this original significance of deferment and temporary inactivity.
